EXPERIENCE

Daniella Bahrynian is an Associate in Liebert Cassidy Whitmore's Los Angeles office where she assists public sector agencies and educational institutions on a variety of matters including labor, employment, and education law. Prior to becoming a lawyer, Daniella taught third grade for three years through Teach for America. Her passion for education and this direct experience with students, teachers, and administrators has helped shape Daniella's approach to practicing law.

Daniella works with public and private education clients on matters such as harassment or discrimination claims, academic and classified employee discipline and termination, employee performance management, disability accommodations, student discipline, and other student, faculty, and governance-related issues.

Daniella received her Juris Doctor from Loyola Law School where she served as Note and Comment Editor for the Loyola of Los Angeles Entertainment Law Review. As a member of Loyola's Scott Moot Court Honors Board, Daniella also competed in state and national appellate advocacy competitions, earning awards for both brief writing and oral advocacy.
